Plesse to register your letters containing remittanges, as we hold ourselves respo to as when letters are recis less letters are registered. Malt is easy, by setting up the military above the civil law, and attempting to rule by a sort of mixture of civil and military, to create difficulties, and then make these difficulties an exense for coninuing this anomalous state of things Whilst the military remain, the civil law is puzzled. A gnerrilla, niias a robber and murderer, commits his depredations, and whose business is it to arrest and unish him? If the civil power npprehend him, he may be taken from them by the military, and hence the civil officers feel that it is not more than half their duty, and the military are not immediately at hand. If the military were withdrawn, the outrages we now hear of would be promptly punished by the State ar authorities, supported by all parties. As it is, they are not. Some people think the military are here, and it is an excuse for them to give themselves no concern about erimes committed.

The escape of criminals is the natural effect of such a jumble of law and discretion; such a conflict of jurisdiction. This state of things creates its own excuses. The State needs no Federal military to execute law in this State. The civil authorities are ample to do it without such help. The State has a right to demand exemption from the usurped power of martial law. She has no laws in conflict with the laws of the United States. There is not a law on the statute book that is in conflict with any law of the Federal Government, and in executing them she can violate no obligation to the Federal

To the Federal Government the State has done her whole duty, and this detiance of her laws is revolutionary and utterly inexcusable. The whole trouble is in the negro. Negro ou the brain is the matter. Kentucky never surrendered her right to her own opinion on this subject. Laws of Congress she will only resist in constitutional ways. But Kentuckians will adhere to their own opinions if marrial law is maintained till doomsday. If the wrong is to be done, let the authors of it take the responsibility, and not ask the indorsement of this State for nets against her protest at every step. We have dispatches from Wushington announcing that a relief from military rule is promised; but we don't know that rds black and white checked and striped it will be realized. That it ought to be is neas, at 65c, 75c and 85c per yard. certain. Whether it will be or not, remains to be seen. It is certain that the present practices will never change the nction of the majority of the State. The State has forfeited no right she ever had, and her oppressors stand in the wrong, without any constitutional or legal justidescriptions:

It is the states of the state bave the Union their own way now, and they are devoted to it, and intolerant toward the dismnionists of late, who were dismnionists because the Union didn't suit them. We don't know who "Thompson" is, but if he is like his brethren of

He ean't deny that the authors of the extracts we published last Friday were disunionists in 1856, as much so as any Southern rebel has been since. There is only one subterfuge, and three hundred and seventy-nine millions that is, to show that Dr. Thornwell, Dr. Palmer and others have been disunionists. He wants us to publish what they probably in the world. The estimation of said. erimes similar to those they perpetrated. They openly encouraged resistance to the laws of the Union, and pretend now to feel a horror of the crime of those who followed their teaching. It is quite unnecessary to expose the language or the deeds of these Southern rebels. They are defeated and condemned. They are required to ask forgiveness, whilst these Northern rebels set themselves up as loyalists, as innocent and an ill-used people, to whom atonement is to be made. A pretty figure they cut, railing at rebels and rebel sympathizers, and magnifying and exaggerating the crime

Rev. L. D. Huston was assigned to the Methodist Church in Covington by the Kentucky Conference held at that place. The appointment seemed to be satisfactory to the congregation generally. L. D. They took possession of the church and locked the preacher and congregation out. Judge Doniphan was applied to, and he put Mr. L. D. Huston in possession of the place of worship. Whilst he was holding quarthe many recent robberies committed, not terly meeting, a guard of negro soldiers entered the church, arrested him and dis-

AFFAIRS IN ALABAMA.-A private leter, written from Thomasville, Alabama, o a gentleman in Macon, and published in the Macon Telegraph, makes the following allusion to the condition of affairs: The "spirit of freedom" and of John Brown is pretty rife uniong the negroes, and the experience of planters has been such that few, or none, think of planting such that few, or none, think of planting next year, except for the support of their own families. Berhaps when we get eivil government established, and more power to restrain vagrancy, stealing, etc., some may change their minds. But now few, even of the hitherto large planters, speak of employing more than eight or ten hands next year. The negroes are crowding to this town and live by stealing. Cornields and pointoe patches are completely stripped in some instances. One farmer has lost seventy of his near bogs within a few weeks, and unother all ogs within a few weeks, and another all but three. But cattle and sheep are disappearing, and as for cotton, the only way to keep it is to sit upon it, ritle in hand. Choos seems to have come again. Horses, and seems to have come again. Chaos seems to have come again. Horses, innies, etc., are curried off by the dozen.

A little money has found its way into the country, and so far, but little. People all feel "troke," and can form no plans for the future. The merchants, however, are generally laying in stocks of goods, and seem to find a reasonable sale. I suppose, after a few years, the country may stringgle out of the present "South of despond," but the most sungnine feel and express great doubts.

winter from want of food, clothing and shelter. The mass of them seem to think that all these will be amply provided in some way without any effort on their part, and are acting accordingly. When the crops are gathered and put out of their reach, they will find a difference. At present the nearest cornfield and potatoe patch supplies their wants, us the weather is so warm they do very well without shelter, fire or clothing. Few expect to work for the whites any more, but seem to think that at Christmas they will become possessed in some way of a ranu. inter from want of food, clothing and stock, etc., and then intend to set up for

A PROFITABLE COTTON SALE. A merchant of this city, says the Baltimore Cazette, sends us the subjoined acount of a sale of cotton made a year ago in New Orleans, when the city was under the strictest martial law, and the military and ivil officials of the Government had something to say in almost every business transaction and generally something to get out of it:

Mr. Schade said that the prisoner was charged with high crimes, and, therefore, it was necessary to show that the defendant was a good man four years ago, while in charge of a prison at Tuscaloosa.

The witness then replied to the questlon are you acquainted with the character of Wirlz for humanity and kindness? I know nothing about it, not having heard any particular remarks on the subject.

Mr. Schude sgid when the prosecution closed and the defense was about to commence the counsel for the prisoner closed and the defense was about to commence the counsel for the prisoner usked for eight days, in order that they might make the requisite preparation. He now asked that the Commission adjourn till to-morrow week. This was necessary in order to do justice to the prisoner as well as to themselves. With a risoner as well as to themselves. With a view to save expense they had discharged several witnesses whose testimony waves at and came under that character which had been ruled to be irrelevant. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.
On the first of last January there were we hundred general hospitals in the country, with thousands of palients unter treatment. At the present time there a but forty containing and the country in the country of der treatment. At the present time there are but forty, containing about seven thousand patients and by the aid of thoroughly seientific surgical treatment, together with a liberal expenditure of money for wooden legs and urns and things of that sort, the Medical bepartment is rapidly reducing that number. No expense is spared by the Government in starting its shattered defenders in the world again, as near as nossible, as good as new.

as near as possible, as good as new.
on a tour of inspection through his military division, with a view to cutting down tary division, with a view to cutting down the forces and mustering out as many men as the exigencies of the Indian serv-ice will permit. It is generally believed in military circles that but a small force will be necessary to protect our northwestern frontier, and a large portion of the army concentrated there will be speedily disoncentrated there was a considered with.

A Herald's special, dated Raieigh, Oct. 14, says: The North Carolina reconstruction convention met here to-day, and has organized with Edwin G. Reid as its need. Mr. Reid was a representative from the Thirty-fifth Congress from this State.

The Tribune's special says: The President listened attentively to a Louisiana delegation again this morning. It is understood that he is strongly disposed to set aside the Constitution of 1964, which is in some degree distasteful to him, and to appoint a Provisional Governor. But he looks with something like suspicion upon Gov. Wells.
